niosh.068 truck driver study

i think this study is ludicrous. this country has a quadrillion dollar federal deficit and these kinds of stupid investigations are being thought up. meetings are being held on something like this. it is time that cdc concentrate on how the mercury thimeresol in vaccines harms little tiny babies and does something worthwhile instead of studying the room in trucks.

who paid off for this one.cdc has extremely high paid individuals and they are studying this????? come on
