

Adults with fair or poor health have more dental disease and less access to dental care.

Primary care providers can help their patients maintain their oral health.

Educate

patients with fair/poor health about their higher risk for dental disease, stressing the importance of preventive care.

Screen

patients for oral conditions.

Refer

patients to a dentist.

