Fluoridation Learning Online

Are you an engineer, water system operator, or do you work in a state oral health program? Are you interested in community water fluoridation training?

FREE web-based training available anytime, anywhere!

Fluoridation Learning Online (FLO) is a free resource designed to build the capability of state fluoridation programs, and to help increase knowledge and refine skills to implement and maintain community water fluoridation.

Learn about:
1. History and science of fluoridation, benefits, and health effects.
2. State program management and oversight, and communication principles.
3. Water system overview and design.
4. Technical information for water fluoridation additives and operations.

Find more information through CDC TRAIN at https://cdc.train.org and enter course ID: 1072975 in the search box, or visit CDC's Community Water Fluoridation website at https://www.cdc.gov/fluoridation/engineering/index.htm.